PENGUINS TAKE NO CHANCES OF A COLD EGG

Despite the current heat wave, Vancouver's Stanley Park penguins are taking no chances of letting their egg catch cold. Here a bunch of the comical birds squat down holding the eggs under their "upside" feet to keep them at the right incubating temperature. The method is effective. Last week a young penguin burst through his shell to be greeted by glad cries from penguins, zoo staff, and the public. — Vancouver Parks Board Photo

Victoria "IS Considering" Aid For Fruit Growers

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government is considering whether to accept a conditional federal offer of aid to Okanagan fruit growers, Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said Friday. He was commenting on a B.C. But the minister said the final report from Ottawa that the B.C. government had shown no signs of taking up the federal proposal.

Bodies Of Missing Co-Ed Pair Found In Weed-Covered Field

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Family dentists today identified two bodies found Friday in a vacant weed-covered field as those of two beautiful co-eds who disappeared July 12.

Crime detection experts said an autopsy showed Susan Rigby was strangled by a powerful attacker, so far unidentified.

Justice of the Peace Jerry Dellana, conducting the inquest, said results were inconclusive as to what caused the death of Shirley Ann Stark.

Valuable Coin Reported Stolen

TORONTO (CP) — A rare Canadian coin valued between $10,000 and $25,000 has been stolen from a coin dealer here, police say. Rick Salway owns the 1916 gold sovereign. Police said the coin was stolen from Mr. Salway's downtown coin and stamp shop sometime between Wednesday and Friday morning. He had hidden the sovereign behind a display case.

New York Police To Keep In Touch

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City patrolmen soon will be carrying 33-ounce compact two-way shortwave "translator" radios. Members of the police department's elite corps, the Tactical Patrol Force, have been experimenting with 32 of the sets for two years. The department says an order has gone in for 220 more, and eventually thousands will be used. The sets cost $650 each. They are eight inches long, three inches wide and an inch thick. They are worn hooked onto the trouser belt and have a lapel microphone. Their range is up to four miles. The radios will permit policemen to keep in constant touch with their command, with radio cars and with other patrolmen on the beat.

Tour In Cyprus For Guards, CHA

OTTAWA (CP) — The department of national defence announced Friday that the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Grenadier and W. Battery, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, will go to Cyprus in September. They will relieve the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles. Both relief units are based at Camp Petawawa, Ont., and are making their first tour of United Nations duty.

Fireman Diverted To Halt Robbery

NEW YORK (AP) — A fireman jumped from a moving fire engine Friday and seized a teen-ager accused of stealing a $930 payroll from a woman bookkeeper returning from a bank. Her screams were heard by fireman Edmund Leahy, 35, aboard a passing fire engine on inspection duty.

Labor Revolt Hits Wilson

LONDON (Reuters) — A Labor left wing's revolt left Prime Minister Wilson's government today with a basic majority of only two for a crucial vote of confidence in Parliament Monday.

Government backbencher William Warbey attacked politicians Friday night by demanding the resignation of Wilson, claiming he had broken election pledges. Warbey threatened to abstain in Monday's House of Commons debate when the opposition Conservative party will seek to censure the government. Assuming Warbey abstains, loss of one more vote in Monday's debate — if it comes to a vote — would leave the government with only two votes for a crucial vote of confidence in Parliament Monday.

Strong Critic Of Support For U.S. Has Paid Several Visits To Hanoi

Warbey, 41, who has paid several visits to Communist North Vietnam, has been a strong critic of Wilson's policy of support for the United States in the Viet Nam war. He issued a statement Friday night attacking the prime minister for breaking election promises about a national income guarantee for old people, cheaper house-purchase loans and a new initiative for world peace. The government Tuesday announced strong economic measures to tighten up on the country's spending to meet a balance-of-payments crisis. Edward Short, the Labor party's parliamentary manager, said Warbey was "taking a lot of nonsense as he does frequently. . . . He should resign his seat and fight as an independent." Other parties reacted swiftly to the Labor party's one-man revolt. Jo Grimond, the Liberal leader, said "If distrust grows stronger they will have an alternative but an election." A Conservative spokesman said "We have been saying for months that Labor has broken their pledges. Warbey's disloyalty is a little belated."

Continuing Drought Eases In Parched Eastern Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS. Continuing drought in parts of eastern Ontario, eased somewhat by rain during July, has left farmers with a shortage of hay while grain prices have risen in the province generally. Much the same conditions exist in western Quebec.

Agriculture authorities in the Ottawa Valley, one of the hardest hit areas by the drought, say grain crops are down by at least 25 per cent and in some spots by as high as 60 per cent from previous years. Prices are about double what they usually are.

To meet the growing problems, Ontario farmers are seeking government control of prices to stabilize them at 1964 levels. They have asked the federal and provincial governments to provide five-year loans as well as a one-year extension of existing loans. They also want a system of grants at $15 an acre for improvements and hay acreage.

Antoine Hitley, Quebec agricultural representative, says farmers in western Quebec will likely make similar demands. The situation there is "getting out of hand," he said. "The 3,500 farmers of Ontario Friday night."

New Zealand Quints "All Doing Well"

AUCKLAND (Reuters) — New Zealand's four-day-old Lawson quints are all reported to be doing well today. A bulletin from the National Women's Hospital, where the babies were born to 26-year-old Shirley Ann Lawson Tuesday, said: "Mrs. Lawson very well; babies continuing to progress satisfactorily." The four girls and a boy still are in incubators.

Two Loggers Killed Under Giant Trailer

KASLO (CP) — Two loggers died Friday, one instantly, when their car was ripped apart and flattened beneath the seven-foot wheels of a giant trailer carrying 50 tons of clay. Dead are Wendell Rollin Baker, 41, of Kaslo, and a man whose name is being withheld pending notification of relatives.

Johnson Talks To Goldberg On Viet Nam

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson summoned Arthur Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, to the LBJ ranch today to discuss possible UN efforts to promote peace in Viet Nam.

Fire Aboard Ship "Out Of Control"

MONTREAL (CP) — A fire that followed two explosions today aboard the tanker Cedarbranch was reported out of control and preparations were under way to move the ship into the middle of the St. Lawrence River.

Aid In Viet Nam Asked Of Canada By Johnson Note

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Friday the government has received a request from President Johnson for token military support in South Viet Nam but has not yet replied. A few hours after Mr. Pearson's remarks at a press conference, External Affairs Minister Martin said at Windsor, Ont., that the U.S. request did not involve troops or other armed forces. The prime minister did not give details of the request, made in a letter to him earlier in the week from the president, but he noted that Canada's position differs from that of other Western nations that have been asked to consider token military commitments in the Viet Nam war. Mr. Pearson pointed out that Canada is a member of the international three commissions in Southeast Asia. The external affairs minister, at home recuperating from an injury suffered in a fall, said the Johnson request "did not involve any suggestions for assistance by Canada of a kind that Canada is not now providing." This assistance now runs to medical aid, flour and educational and scientific help in South Viet Nam. Thus Mr. Martin excluded any direct military contribution.

War Planes Pound Red Targets Both North And South Of Line

SAIGON (CP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese war planes pounded Communist targets in both North and South Viet Nam today, but there was an apparent lull in major ground action against the north. Four U.S. Navy A-4 Skyhawks from the carrier Independence hit a transportation terminal 60 miles south of Hanoi. Other raids were flown against two bridges and a military complex 15 miles north of the 17th parallel and another bridge and a barracks 45 miles south of Vinh. All the planes returned safely, authorities said.

Rivard Bail: Story Denied

MONTREAL (CP) — Superintendent J. H. R. Carriere of the RCMP said Friday night "no lead, no arrangement to post bond anywhere" has been made for Lucien Rivard.

Supt. Carriere was commenting on a published report which quoted an anonymous letter as saying that $500,000 will be posted Monday in Houston, Tex. for the narcotics suspect.

The bail amount was set after Rivard was taken to Texas from Canada to face the charges connected with an alleged ring of narcotics smugglers operating in the U.S.

The report appeared in a front-page copyright story in the Gazette. The paper said one of its reporters left the information in a letter left for him under a railway station locker by someone who wished to remain unidentified.

Supt. Carriere, in referring to the reported bail money, said: "No such arrangement has been made that we know of. And we would know."

Rivard escaped from jail in Montreal March 2 while awaiting the outcome of extradition proceedings, and was recaptured earlier this month.

Anesthetic Was War Gas

PARIS (Reuters) — Five hospital officials were charged with manslaughter Friday after an inquiry decided the anesthetic administered in error to a mother in childbirth was a lethal war gas.

Mrs. Odette Poncelet, 32, a doctor's wife, died after a caesarian operation in November, 1963. The child survived.

An official enquiry reached the conclusion that the mother was given pure nitrous oxide during the operation at the Puteaux Hospital near Paris because couplings on two cylinders in the operating theatre were switched by mistake when the cylinders were replenished.

Two Shot Dead In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A vacationing patrolman and a paroled convict who was posing as a narcotics agent were killed early today in a gun fight in a Brooklyn bar.

The victims were patrolman Maillard Mercer, 44, and Joseph Raymond Kadlub, 39, who was released from prison in Illinois just five weeks ago.

Police Inspector Albert A. Seedman said Mercer was questioning Kadlub about his narcotics agent pose when the latter started shooting. They had walked into a back storeroom at the bar.

An off-duty patrolman, Kelvin Milin, also in the bar, shot down Kadlub on a street outside.

Doctor Asks Fee: Half A Skateboard

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle-King County safety council issued a report on skateboard accidents Friday in which it said one doctor has established this fee for treating such injuries: "One-half of the skateboard, either end."

TAILOR AND CUTTER SEWS UP SITUATION

British PJs May Topple De Gaulle

LONDON (Reuters) — The revelation that French President de Gaulle wears British pyjamas may bring down his government, an authoritative tailoring journal declares. "Tongue in cheek, the Tailor and Cutter magazine suggests de Gaulle, who wears British pyjamas in regimental striped cloth, really sees the salvation of France in British-style discipline. "Some years ago it was reported that only one Frenchman in 10 ever wears any pyjamas at all (sexy devils), but the statistics on this side of the Channel support a pyjama discipline of 50 per cent," Tailor and Cutter says. "It may be that for all this pretended scorn of the British, it is in their basic discipline (with all the restrictions such as unindulgent life en-

Strong Force of Lawmen Wait For Negro Protest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 100 white helmeted state troopers and riot policemen armed with riot guns, pistols and clubs stood by today as Negro leaders planned more demonstrations in the south Georgia city of Americus, the scene of a slaying and racial violence the last two weeks.

Funeral services were to be held late today for Andrew J. Whitley Jr., 21, a white man killed by shots fired from a passing car Wednesday night.

Two Negroes have been charged with murder in the slaying of Benjamin Van Lierke, a field worker for Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, led the last of three marches on the court house Friday night after city officials ignored an ultimatum demanding an immediate meeting of a biracial committee, formed to help ease racial tensions here.

Mayor T. Griffin Walker said he would reply to the ultimatum today.

Negro leaders also said that downtown stores would be picketed today in an effort to get merchants to bring pressure on city officials.

UNDER COURT ORDER

In Bogalusa, La., the city's two ranking police officials were under tough federal court orders today to stop civil rights violence or face jail and $100-a-day fines.

U.S. district Judge Herbert Christensen handed out the ultimatum Friday. To Safety Commissioner Arnold Spivey and Police Chief Clanton Knight, he gave them one week to make changes which will insure protection to civil rights demonstrators.

Spivey and Knight, along with a rookie city policeman, Donald Heston, were cited for civil contempt. The charges came after a series of attacks on civil rights pickets by angry whites.

Christensen told the police that the month in a sweeping injunction that they had to protect the marchers and pickets.

A federal judge at Macon, Ga., ordered the release of four Negro women whose arrests July 20 touched off the American demonstrations. The women were arrested while standing in a "whites only" voting line at the election polls.

District Judge W. A. Bostle also ordered that there be no more integrated elections in Sumter County.

Leukemia Doctor Held For Fraud

PARIS (AP) — Gaston Naeyaert, fined 10,000 francs ($3,000) earlier this year for illegal practice of medicine and pharmacy in connection with a claimed leukemia cure, was arrested Friday for forgery. He is accused of forging a letter to give the impression that he had the backing of the ministry of public health for his research. Government laboratories concluded that his leukemia serum was worthless.

Dief Plans To Call For Inquiry Into Furniture Deal Background

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Friday he intends to ask for a parliamentary inquiry into the Seikind brothers, including furniture deals of Postmaster-General Tremblay and State Secretary Lamontagne with Seikind firms.

He indicated new light could be shed on the matter by documents in the possession of the federal justice department's superintendent of bankruptcy.

He said these documents could be produced before a parliamentary inquiry.

"I intend to ask for the fullest investigation of the Seikind brothers' affairs," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "A number of things have been revealed, including the furniture deals by cabinet ministers—that deserve investigation."

He said he had made inquiries as a result of the government's refusal to table documents in Parliament and concluded that "the transactions of the Seikinds deserve full examination."

The Quebec government has been conducting an inquiry into fraudulent bankruptcies and a report is expected soon.

The Tremblay-Lamontagne furniture deals were made public following bankruptcy of Seikind firms.

Former justice minister Favreau told the Commons last March it would be improper for him to make public a report on bankruptcies involving Max and Adolph Seikind because the Bankruptcy Act bans such disclosure.

Ottawa to Make Major Bid To Move Rail Legislation

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is expected to make a determined effort to get its controversial railway legislation through Parliament this fall.

It has been revised considerably from the version introduced in Parliament last September by Transport Minister Pickersgill and rewriting still is being done. The changes are designed to meet some of the complaints that greeted the original.

The measure will streamline the railway industry along the principles laid down by the MacPherson royal commission in 1961.

Basically, the commission urged that the railways be allowed to strip away money-losing services and be freed from all but the most essential rate control.

Uneconomic passenger services would be abandoned over five years; branch lines over 15 years. While this was being done, the railways would get a federal subsidy starting at nearly $100,000,000 and dropping each year on a sliding scale.

Eventually, the subsidies would be for money-losing lines the government forced the railways to continue operating. For the most part, the railways would be on their own to seek or obtain in competition with truckers, airlines, ships and pipelines.

Both the present government and its Conservative predecessor accepted the principle of the plan and the railways themselves are delighted with it. However, attempts to get it into legislation have been side-tracked by the pressure of other parliamentary business.

A revamped version of the bill was discussed with the provincial premiers at the recent federal-provincial conference here. It won general acceptance, but informed sources say the premiers complained about its formula for setting maximum freight rates for "captive" shippers—those with no alternative to rail transport.

Several premiers said the formula set too high a ceiling on such rates. Transport department experts now are studying the matter.

Most of the complaints from western premiers about the plans for reducing Prairie branch lines have been met, the sources say. For one thing, the bill now contains measures that would force the big railways to accept branch line rationalization measures worked out by a new board.

For example, if the board decided that a specific area would be served economically by having one of the railways take over the other's losing line it will have methods of forcing the railways to comply.

More Countries Give Aid Now Than When Saigon First Called

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirty countries now are giving help to South Viet Nam — three times as many as when Saigon appealed to the non-Communist world for aid a year ago.

Eight others have promised help.

About 700 civilians and 4,000 soldiers from 13 countries beside the United States are on the job in South Viet Nam, according to U.S. state department figures.

The number is expected to take big jumps with the prospective arrival of perhaps 16,000 more Korean troops in addition to the 2,300-man Korean task force unit already at hand.

Later this year the Philippines may send a 2,300-man contingent.

The total of men and material from other countries amounts to only a fraction of the U.S. contribution — more than 125,000 men and $1,000,000,000-plus this year, by latest figures.

Canada is contributing medical help, food, scientific and educational assistance.

Britain is giving a variety of economic and technical assistance.

The state department lists these other countries aiding South Viet Nam so far:

Australia—An infantry battalion, combat advisers, an air force unit, a surgical team, civil engineers, 1,600,000 textbooks for rural schools, 14,000 cases of condensed milk, a 50-kilo watt broadcasting station and other items.

Brazil — Coffee and medical supplies.

Nationalist China—Experts on agriculture, psychological warfare, electric power, surgery, material for electric power stations, 500,000 mathematics textbooks, 26 aluminum prefabricated warehouses, farm machinery, seeds and fertilizers.

France — Economic, technical and medical assistance totalling $111,000,000 since 1956.

West Germany — Experts on vocational training, medicine, forestry, and funds for agricultural investment and development.

Guatemala — 15,000 doses of typhoid-paratyphoid serum.

India—Cloth.

Iran—1,000 tons of petroleum products.

Ireland — Funds through the Red Cross.

Italy—A surgical team and science scholarships.

Japan—Power dam construction, medical aid, transistor radios, transmission line and bridge building.

Korea — In addition to the combat troops, a surgical hospital and instructors in hand-to-hand combat.

Laos, Pakistan — Funds for flood relief.

Malaysia — Counter-insurgency materials such as armored vehicles; training of Vietnamese military officers, including counter insurgency instructions in Malaysia (2,000 trained so far).

New Zealand—Artillery, army engineers, medical and scientific aid.

Philippines — Military and civilian medical teams and a psychological warfare detachment.

Switzerland—Microscopes for the University of Saigon.

Thailand—Aviation crews, cement, roofing materials.

Belgium, Denmark, Ecuador, Israel, The Netherlands, Turkey and Spain have provided medical aid in various forms.

The eight other nations which have agreed to provide help are: Argentina, Austria, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Honduras, Luxembourg and Nicaragua.

Johnson Signs Medicare Bill To Provide For "Sidelines Folk"

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — President Johnson signed the $4,500,000,000 Medicare bill Friday after journeying here to share "this time of triumph" with former president Harry S. Truman.

The new law, said the 81-year-old former Democratic president, will mean dignity, not charity "for those of us who have moved to the sidelines."

Johnson recalled that Truman first proposed this type of legislation.

Johnson said the new program of medical insurance for the elderly will bring "the light of hope and realization" to millions of Americans.

Johnson sat on the stage in the crowded 275-seat auditorium of the Harry S. Truman Library and signed the bill on a table Truman used at presidential inauguration.

The bill cleared its final congressional hurdle Wednesday. It will provide hospital insurance for Americans over 65, set up a voluntary program to cover the doctors' bills of elderly Americans and boost social security benefits.

Johnson's signature set it in motion in September — in the form of retroactive increases in social security checks.

The health insurance program goes into operation next July 1.

NEW GARBAGE CANS ADOPT ORNAMENTAL LOOK

Everybody is admiring the new garbage cans which the city recently placed at strategic points on our streets. Two year old Charles Teall is no exception as he reaches up to add his contribution towards keeping our streets clean.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Teall, Okanagan Mission. The cans are green in color and look like a fashionable ornament. One has to peak inside to be sure it's a new version of an old model. This is just one of many ideas used by the city to improve the appearance of our streets. Pennants are flying from lamp standards, flower boxes decorate the standards and sidewalks, and the city presents a decorated look much admired by visitors and residents alike.

Teen Town Readies Schedule For Non Stop Regatta Week

There is a group of young people in Kelowna who work for the betterment of themselves and their community. Teen Town originated in Vancouver in 1943, and has been operating in Kelowna for approximately 10 years, having a membership of approximately 450 teenagers.

Idea for the organization was started by Bruce Hutchinson, a Vancouver newspaper executive, who started the ball rolling on the coast. It is run on a democratic basis, with a constitution and annual elections. The Kelowna Teen Town has a busy schedule ahead of them for the Regatta week, with many events on their calendar. "Smoky" Smith Wants To Relax, Chooses Kelowna For Reunion

"Smoky" Smith, who won the Victoria Cross for destroying three German tanks and two large cannons in an encounter at a bridgehead in Italy in 1943, came to Kelowna Friday to meet old friends and visit his daughter in Oyma.

"Smoky" is a civilian now, having retired from the army 11 months ago, after service dating back to 1939. He is employed by a Vancouver Travel Agency, and he specializes in arranging trips to the south Pacific and Honolulu. He enlisted in the army with the Banforth Highlanders regiment, and remained with them until 1946, when he left to become a photographer for a Vancouver newspaper.

He re-enlisted in 1949, and went to the Black Watch, in 1953.

"Smoky", who is no stranger to Kelowna, was met by many friends Friday, including Miss Peters and Ray Needham, and was entertained at the Kelowna Club.

After a brief tour of the Valley, he will return to see the Regatta.

With Kelowna being one of his favorite spots, he said he would "just sit around and relax."

"SMOKY" SMITH, VC

"I'm going to combine a bit of business with pleasure, but mainly I want to see my daughter, meet some old friends, and soak up some of this wonderful sunshine!"

He is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Campbell of 1033 Harvey Ave.

POSTAL STRIKE SPEEDED LETTER

The postal strike did not slow down mail from Kelowna, Ontario.

Indeed, it speeded up deliveries to such an extent that on July 30, the circulation manager of the Kelowna Courier received a letter, addressed to "Kelowna's leading newspaper."

The postmark on the envelope was Aug. 1.

100F Students Hold Reunion

A group of 30 students who travelled together across Canada and into New York in 1964, are having a reunion in Kelowna today.

The students, who come from Alaska, Washington, D.C., and Alberta, were members of the United Nations pilgrimage for youth, which was sponsored by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

The trip was given to students from all areas who were outstanding in public speaking and essays.

Organizer of the reunion is Betty Ratcliffe, of 815 Lons Avenue, who said:

"The reunion was decided upon before the trip to New York was ended. We had such a good time that we decided to hold a reunion in Kelowna this year."

The students will be water skiing, boating and swimming during their stay, and will be entertained today at the 100F hall.

Two Area Pupils Top Exam Lists

Two district students are on the 1965 lists of top ranking students on university program and Grade XIII examinations who applied for scholarships.

The list, released today by the Hon. Ralph Lefkowitz, acting minister of education, shows Penelope Katherine Podard, R.N. 1, Davidson road, Winfield, with an average of 90 per cent. Penelope is on the university program at George Eliot secondary school in Winfield.

Richard Fraser Randall, Summerland, a Grade XIII student in the Penitence secondary school, obtained an average of 87.3. No Kelowna students were listed.

Slower Ripening Retards Tomatoes

Tomato movement has been retarded due to slow maturity, the department of agriculture said today.

Frost spared apple trees continue to decline. McIntosh variety is making good size. Cookers are rapidly approaching harvest size.

Thinning is still under way in the North Okanagan. Some Yellow Transparents are still being harvested in the Summerland area. Bartlett pear harvest is 10 days to two weeks away in the Oliver area. The crop is progressing normally.

Cucumber quality is generally good to excellent with movement under way to coast and Alberta points. Storage cabbage is being cleaned up slowly. First shipments of corn have been started. The crop is maturing well and in good condition.

"I have seen crews working in the park each morning, pruning trees and cleaning up," he added, "and I think this money would serve a better purpose if it went toward life-guarding, as a child's life is more important than a clean park."

The pool manager estimated that to do the job of guarding beaches properly, he would need at least 10 more qualified men, which would cost the city approximately $1,600 a month.

"The extra men," stressed Mr. Yard, "would only be needed for the busiest times during the summer, when there are about 400-500 swimmers on the beach each day."

Membership in Teen Town can be attained by anyone between the ages of 13 and 19, for a nominal fee. Any member who violates the constitution can lose membership.

As part of their activities, the teen towners will gather Saturday from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the Capri Royale service station and conduct a car wash, with 15-20 energetic scrubbers and polishers on hand.

Proceeds will go to financing the float in the Regatta parade and a booth at the PNE, Vancouver.

National Dress Needed For Show

Bob Simpson, general coordinator of the 1965 Regatta committee, is making a desperate appeal to citizens of Kelowna for national costumes from countries anywhere in the world.

"We want these costumes for the August 11 evening show at the Regatta," he said today. "If possible, we would like the owners of the costumes to wear them to the Aquatic, and join in the show."

"This would not take any acting talent," he added, "but simply entail standing in line for a display of all the costumes."

If people have costumes but are not able to wear them during the show, they can contact Mr. Simpson at the Regatta office, or phone 762-4321.

Bigamy Not Bad But Five's Too Much

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Her husband deceived her, a Phoenix woman contended Friday in filing for divorce. The petition said the man claimed to have been married two times previously when, actually, he'd been married five times.

RADIO MISSING
Acme Radio, 1632 Pandosy St., reported at 11:45 a.m. the loss of a 10 transistor radio from their shop sometime in the past four days. It is valued at $70.

CHARGED WITH THEFT
Police arrested Russell Reade Pigeon, Alexis Creek, and charged him with theft. The charge was preferred following a complaint at 10:10 p.m. that $80 was taken from a forest ranger at the Scotty Creek suppression camp. He pleaded guilty to the offence Thursday and was remanded for sentence.

Boat Crash In Lake Kelowna Man Injured

A place in the sun was no spot for normal thermometers Friday.

Those people who register "everything in the shade" managed to convey a mere 94 degrees at the high in Kelowna, but one reader placed a thermometer in the sun, and it gasped its way to 120 before quitting.

A weather expert said he took thermometers five miles outside the city, and one registered 101 degrees.

Forecasters never alter their findings, and 94 will stand, but a special thermometer set for sun reading could have clocked blistering temperatures.

Canada's official hot spot was Lytton, which showed a steady 110 degrees for several hours during the afternoon.

NO WEEKEND CHANGE
Indication of the heat was reflected by record crowds on the beaches, and more than 300 mail-led around the hot sands Friday night.

Confectionery stores and retail outlets reported soaring sales in soft drinks and ice cream.

There is no respite today or Sunday, with the only comment sunny and hot.

In the Okanagan, Lillooet, and South Thompson areas, there will be light winds. Low tonight and high Sunday at Penitence, 55 and 90. Kamloops, 60 and 95, and Revelstoke, 60 and 95.

No major change is expected before Monday, although fog has formed along the outer coast and a few patches were reported from the Cariboo.

Smoke was reported from the lower mainland from forest fires burning in that area.

Last year on July 30 there was a low of 51 and a high of 87, with 103 inches of rain. This year it was 56 and 94.

Six People Escape In Accident Two Men Thrown Into Water

A boat crash just off the Aquatic club shortly before 10 p.m. Friday sent Dennis Weninger, 21, R.R. 1, Kelowna, to hospital suffering from severe cuts.

Seven people were involved with six escaping injury. The driver of the larger, 18-foot boat was Robert H. Wilson, Hobson road.

Passengers in the Weninger boat included Arthur Weninger, Don Stenbeck, Senger road, and Douglas Fredericks, 1177 Southland Ave.

THROWN IN WATER
Passengers in the Wilson boat were Chester Williams, 1740 Ethel St., and Robert Simpson, 2618 Krider Place.

Hospital authorities said today Mr. Weninger is in satisfactory condition.

According to Arthur Weninger, he and his brother were thrown into the water from the boat from the impact of the collision.

They managed to tread water until picked up, and rushed back to the Aquatic club.

There, Dennis Weninger was wrapped in blankets and taken to the emergency ward at Kelowna General hospital.

According to the RCMP report, the Wilson boat was proceeding toward Westbank from the Yacht club when the accident occurred.

Warm Weather Brings Warnings Of Forest Fire Menace In Area

The return of warm weather has increased the fire hazard and forest rangers are warning people travelling in the woods to exercise vigilance.

Five logging camps have been closed down at coastal areas throwing 2,000 loggers out of work. Forests remain open to campers, a B.C. Forest Service spokesman said.

"There are no forestry closures in the interior," Allan Moss, woodland manager for S.M. Simpson Ltd., said today.

"We have only had one closure in 14 years, and that was three or four years ago."

"We prefer to leave loggers in the woods, so they can be near in case of lightning strikes," he said.

AGAIN ON ALERT
The hazard is rising from moderate to high and campers should be very careful with fires and cigarettes.

A seven-day cloudy period in the province had given firefighters a rest, but clear skies have put them on the alert again. Human carelessness is causing too many fires, a forest service release said.

There were 242 forest fires burning Friday. All were under control.

The Kamloops fire district reported six new fires during the week, bringing the season's total to 556 at an estimated cost of $227,300. Comparative figures show 269 fires at the same date last year costing $27,000.

There have been 1,000 fires to date in the province at a cost of $819,300. Across the country, there were 3,000 fires to the end of June.

Police Probe Downtown Thefts Say Drug Store Safe Burgled

Two motor vehicle accidents, a theft and a lost wallet were reported to police in the past 24 hours.

William Grish Alew, 1246 St. Paul St., was charged with changing lanes when unsafe to do so, following a two-car collision at 4 p.m. Friday on Highway 97 near Birch road.

Seamus driver was Albert Mett, 97 Trepanier Drive, Tremblor. Damage is estimated at $250. No injuries were reported.

AVOIDING DEER
Harold Hartfield, 1332 Richter St., told police at 6 a.m.

Saturday, he ran off Lakeshore road, when he swerved to avoid a deer. Damage to the car is estimated at $300. No charges were preferred.

Willie Taylor Drugs reported the theft of $177 from the safe in their Bernard Ave. store, sometime between 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. Police are investigating.

C. Norquay, 216 Bay Ave., reported to police at 6:45 p.m. Friday, the loss of his wallet during the afternoon on Bernard Ave. It contained a large sum of money and personal papers.

Visitors Enjoy Sidewalk Show Artists Vie To Color Displays

Hundreds of residents and visitors in the city Friday and Saturday visited the two-day sidewalk art show at the foot of Bernard Ave., near the lake.

It was the third time the Kelowna Art Exhibit society has staged the show. Some 40 artists from the Okanagan had pictures hanging in the exhibit, 21 of them from Kelowna and district.

The show closes at 6 p.m. tonight.

Mrs. Muriel Floukes, retired librarian, was in charge of organizing the event. She was assisted by Mary Bull, president of the society.

Harold Lloyd Lyon, Summerland artist, set up his easel on the lawn, among the exhibits, and gave a demonstration on how he paints a picture in oils.

Miss Bull entered two paintings, semi abstracts in oils, one called "Pine Trees" and a figure called "Absinthe."

Mrs. Mary Pooley, East Kelowna, had a portrait and a winter scene hanging in the exhibit. Jack MacLennan, Okanagan Mission, entered one of his water colors in fine, delicate lines, called "Poodles."

A. F. G. Drake, West Ave., entered two historical scenes, one of the first barns in the Guichan area "McDougall's Barn" and the Casorso homestead (circa 1885).

Star Of "Branded" Injured In Fight

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Chuck Connors' television series "Branded" was shut down for two weeks Friday after the rangy actor injured his elbow in a fight sequence.

Dr. Mark Stern said Connors had torn muscles in the right elbow and that unless he got complete rest for 10 days, a chronic injury might result.

Tear Gas Mines Along Wall Route

BONN (AP) — A spokesman for the West German interior ministry told a press conference Friday tear gas mines have been laid at various points along the east side of Germany's Iron Curtain border to help prevent escapes of refugees to the West.

CONDITION "FAIR"
Hospital authorities said today condition of Mrs. Constance Nagel is "fair." Mrs. Nagel was taken to the Kelowna General hospital Tuesday following a two-car collision in the city. Her condition from head injuries at that time was said to be serious.

COACHES SWIMMERS

The Okanagan speed team is heading for Penitence under assistant coach Ted Kelly, to continue an inter-city duel that has been in progress all summer. Ted, who acts as a lifeguard and also helps youngsters on the swimming team, said today he has several fine prospects on the roster, including Janice Walker, Bruce Clarke, and 10-year-old Nancy Young. This year the team has been divided into two groups, with Rick Smith coaching the "A" squad. In a recent meet at Kamloops the Kelowna swimmers finished second to the Penitence team.

IT'S LEISURE TIME AT SIDEWALK ART SHOW

The Kelowna Art Exhibit Society staged a two-day sidewalk art show at the foot of Bernard Ave., near a city park. The green lawn thronged with visitors Friday and Saturday, to view the work of some 40 artists from the Okanagan area. In the picture, visitors admire the working during a lull in the show. There were oils, water colors and charcoal paintings in abstracts, semi-abstracts, portraits and realistic paintings. Each artist was asked to enter two paintings. Artists came from Kelowna, Summerland, Vernon and Revelstoke. All paintings were for sale with a portion of the proceeds going to the sponsors. The society will use the money to purchase a permanent art collection for Kelowna. At the close of the show at 8 p.m. today, a selection committee will choose a number of the paintings to go on display in the board room of the Okanagan regional library for the month of August.

Christian Soldier Escapes Anxiety Before the Battle

Old soldiers confess that the night before a great offensive is launched there is much tension. The commanding officer reviews his strategy and checks on last-minute details. The men await the arrival of zero hour with mounting excitement. Tense nerves only find release when the fight is on.

The Christian soldier escapes the sharp edge of such anxiety, for he knows already that he is on the victory side. He rests on the assurance of God's word: "If God be for us, who can be against us?" Romans 8:31. Yet even so it is natural that on the eve of an evangelistic campaign, led by Lane Adams and his team, those who are enlisted in support as workers on the spot, or as prayer-partners, should wonder what the outcome will be. Momentous issues hang upon the consequences of this series of meetings.

The coming of Lane Adams may represent the last opportunity for many to hear the gospel of the grace of God. None of us know what a day may bring forth. The expectation of life in this uncertain space-age is such an unpredictable quantity that this could be God's last call to our nominally Christian city. The world has reached the edge of an awful abyss, for man's depravity has finally devised the means for total destruction.

It is such a desperate situation that the gospel of the grace of God is sent forth today. Even the scientists themselves confess their own inability to supply a remedy. Our statesmen and those in authority over us see no hope. Truly we are living in days when "men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on earth." Luke 21:26. And the man in the street when he stops to think acknowledges that things have come to such a state that God alone can help us.

The concerned Christians who have sponsored the Lane Adams crusade, have called this devoted and consecrated servant of God to proclaim the message of the cross, to what we believe will be the largest congregation ever assembled in the history of our city. It is not suggested that no other preacher is capable of presenting the gospel to the people as Lane Adams; but we do believe Lane Adams is the man for this campaign.

What is the part that Christians are called upon to play in this crusade? Not all can serve as counselors or stewards or choir members. But all can pray, all can witness, all can give; and this threefold participation lays its claim upon every Christian in our city.

On the eve of battle let every Christian wait on the Lord. He alone is our strength in this crusade. He alone will be our salvation. — Rev. E. Martin, Bethel Baptist Church.

Spoils Own Programs

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

On numerous occasions before parliamentary committees, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation executives have wistfully pictured the wonderful improvements they could make in their programming if only the Commons would vote the corporation more money so that it would not have to depend on commercials for revenue. The impression has been given that if there were no financial considerations, the viewer could be treated to programs uninterrupted every few minutes by plugs for headache pills, stomach ailments, detergents, floor waxes and all manner of things.

This is fine in theory, but it would require a change in CBC thinking to make it work. Even now, when there is an opportunity to present a program with a minimum of commercials due to the summer lull in advertising, the CBC cannot resist the urge to follow the Madison Avenue format, even if it has to use its own promotion to clutter up the program.

This happens all the time, but there was a particularly glaring instance of it Tuesday night when the new program "Gideon's Way" had its first showing.

Perhaps because the program had no following or perhaps because of the season, there was only one paid-for commercial on this program—for children's aspirin. This was screened almost at the beginning and the public who support the CBC a lot more than the advertiser does could have had uninterrupted viewing for the rest of the program which, incidentally, was not too bad.

But no. The avant garde types at the CBC who explore every way to be different, as long as it is shocking, decided that the program should be interrupted frequently in the normal way, even if they had to work hard to accomplish it. With no commercials, they had to fall back on their own promotional announcements. There were plugs for reruns of old Perry Mason programs and announcements of other programs to come the next night and even the night after that. There was also a lengthy appeal for funds for the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada to support its work among the children of Korea.

No one would deny the Unitarian Committee deserves some publicity to help its humanitarian work. But it did not have to be converted into still one more program interruption. It could have been run at the end of the program along with CBC's own announcements regarding coming attractions.

Everyone knows that TV programs are taped short these days to allow considerable time for commercials and that time has to be filled in when there are no announcements. But there is no reason why the filling-in should not be done at the end of the program.

If the CBC were truly interested in the viewer's pleasure, it would make it a policy to gather all its own promotional together and display them at the end of a program rather than sprinkling them through the story, causing irritating and unnecessary breaks. This could be one step toward the time when all commercials would be run either before or after a program and not all the way through it. This is the policy that is adopted by commercial television in Britain and European countries and the advertisers there seem to be content. Certainly it gives the viewer a decent break.

One would have thought this would occur to someone among all the CBC's high-priced programmers. But since it hasn't, the suggestion is offered free of charge in the public interest. After all, the people of Canada will pay $100 million for what they see on the CBC this year and ought to be spared the willful and unnecessary mutilation of programs as far as is possible.

"HAVEN'T YOU GOT THE HANG OF IT YET?"

Quebec's Press Expresses Views On Events Of World

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Quebec L'Action—Yes, Canada has changed! It used to be that a federal-provincial conference was an occasion for Ottawa to call together the provinces to read them a lesson and then to hand them decisions which they could take or leave.

But equilibrium is returning. The pendulum is swinging back to the provincial states. The federal-provincial conference is no longer the federal monologue it was. It is a veritable "forum" which enables governments that are equal in their respective spheres of jurisdiction to discuss the Canadian federal-provincial conference has no basis, yet it is becoming the major organ of the country's politics.

The provinces, especially Quebec, played an efficient role at the recent Ottawa meeting. The Pearson government had already modified the one-way centralization that Ottawa had been carrying on since the 1930s. It was a break with a generation's tradition when Mr. Pearson accepted the provinces' right to obtain from federal provincial plans with financial compensation.

But Prime Minister Pearson's declaration on health insurance goes much further than that. For the first time, in fact, Ottawa has set aside the old strategy of the federal-provincial program which allowed her to invade provincial jurisdiction, leaving the provincial states no alternative but to "achieve" or "lose" everything. The Pearson health insurance project completely respects provincial jurisdiction, limiting federal responsibility to fiscal redistribution.

Thus, for the first time, a major Ottawa measure is literally dedicated not by the decision of the federal bureaucracy but by the intergovernmental experience gained in the province field and by the concrete proposals of Premier Lesage at this conference. —Lawrence Fure, (July 21)

Montreal Le Devoir... How much American pressure can the sovereignty dreamed of by "nation-builders" like Macdonald and Diefenbaker stand?

Professor George Grant of McMaster University has published a rather bizarre work on the question under the title "A lament for a nation." He opens with what seems to be a partisan defence of conservative leader John Diefenbaker. Careful reading of his text confirms this illusion. Grant's real theme is that in the 30 years since the last world war, Canada has become "the branch" of American capitalism.

Without military or political takeover, the United States has come to inspire decision-making here. This is clear in military policy, but worse, ever since the days of C. D. Howe "the ruling class has ceased to be indigenous." Diefenbaker nationalism, a strange mixture of popular exaltation and strong support for small capitalism, at first appeared a healthy reaction. But the Tory chief failed to understand the economic implications of his nationalism, or French Canada's distinct role in a Canada differing from the U.S., or the need for university intellectuals to back up his goals.

These failings, says Grant, left the field to the "economic continentalism" which has always been the food of Canadian liberals. He sees them proceeding under Pearson with their discreet integration of Canada into the American pattern, and says final political merger is only a matter of time.

What Canada needed, Grant writes, was a group of men moved after 1945 by the motives of General de Gaulle in France. But there was no tradition from which they could come. The Liberal party would never give up the alliance with the economic powers that was Macdonald's formula for success. The socialists never had a chance because no technologically advanced society has ever believed their promises of delayed liberty.

The senior civil servants of Ottawa were too tied to a kind of "international bureaucracy," mainly English-speaking, which had set itself the task of maintaining the West's superiority over the Eastern bloc, and French Canada, except for a few hand-picked representatives, was never allowed to participate in the decisions.

Professor Grant sins by a prejudice against "liberal" thought, the belief that a thing is good because it is new and that one must get in "the march of history." He is ultra-ideological and draws on highly abstract sources far removed from his facts. And he comes to a dead end—he notes an approaching demise but gives no advice to the man of action.

But this is a rare exercise, and whether he agrees or not, the reader will find in these several pages some of the most lucid ideas yet written on "Canada's crisis." —Glenne Ryan, (July 26)

Montreal La Presse — Fed up with 10 years of patronage, favoritism and nepotism they say is abundantly proven, exasperated with 10 months of fruitless efforts, aroused by 10 days of talks punctuated by an insufficient increase offer and calls to rebellion, Montreal postmen have taken up the favorite sport of the day: strike.

Ottawa began to worry only on the eve of its employees' walkout. Then the cabinet held an emergency meeting and the minister of revenue and postmaster-general emerged with nothing better than an independent inquiry into the dispute. This is discussing water pumps when the powder house is in flames.

For what is a postmaster-general's job if not to keep a constant eye on the post office department and its potential problems?

No one considers the demands of the postmen exaggerated. They earned, according to their category, $3,900, $4,300 and $4,680 after five years' service and now demand not $300 or $350 but $600 more. The slowness of negotiations compared with the speed with which MPs voted their own last pay raise had its part in bringing feelings to white heat. But in addition to the salary question the strikers complain of the lamentable condition of the Montreal central post office, some fairly miserable working conditions and disciplinary measures some say are illegal or draconian.

Morally supported by the Quebec Federation of Labor and the Canadian Labor Congress, and with the illegality of their strike not clearly established, the postmen, setting a precedent, now are the focus of all federal employees. All the poor public wants is to see this challenge posed the government into modifying its attitude toward its employees and establish machinery for settling disputes at a 1965, not a 1960, pace. —Ronald LaPointe, (July 23)

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

"I Didn't Say That So Here's Explanation"

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend told me she read in your column that aspirin could cause internal bleeding through the kidneys. Would you please write on this subject? My husband has been passing blood in the urine for several months. —MRS. W.B.

Things get garbled in the retelling. The foregoing is not what I wrote. Let's explain what I DID write, and add to it a bit.

It is true that aspirin can irritate the stomach, and can cause bleeding. Not much, and not always, but in some instances, a little. It can happen.

Ideally, we would prefer that aspirin never did such a thing. However, the dissemination of this information doesn't seem to have caused any panic among people; rather, just some curiosity. That's fine. I'm afraid of panic but approve of healthy curiosity. And my feelings on the subject is that I see no reason to stop telling people to use aspirin when they need it. I take it myself. I just don't take it (or any other medication, for that matter) unless it's necessary.

I didn't say that aspirin causes bleeding in the kidneys, and I don't have any reason to think that it does.

When there is blood in the urine, the patient should always be examined immediately. This does not mean that it is always a dangerous sign. There are plenty of times when some fairly minor conditions causes the bleeding.

Conversely, sometimes it is a sign of a serious condition, and that is why examination should be immediate and thorough. The bleeding may not be from the kidneys. It may be from the bladder, or from an ulcer or other irritated area in the ducts leading to and from the bladder. Kidney stones can also cause bleeding.

Don't mislead yourself by wondering whether it is from aspirin. It isn't. But it is caused by something, and your only sensible course is to find out by diagnosis.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter has Rh negative blood and her future husband is Rh positive. I always understood that this causes a problem in childbirth. Recently someone told her that there is no danger. —MRS. V.

I wish "someone" was right. Unfortunately, the difference in "Rh factor" can be a potential trouble-maker. Your daughter, if she becomes pregnant, should tell her obstetrician about this, and let him take the necessary precautionary steps.

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Caesar's Landing Still Existant

By ART GRAY

In the days when steamboats plied the waters of Okanagan Lake, many small wharves or "landings" dotted the shore. Some are still here, in use from time to time and in good repair, but others have disappeared, with perhaps just a few pilings to mark the site.

The west side of Okanagan Lake has many of these old landmarks of the days of the Abertons, the Okanagan and Sicamous, and interesting stories can be told of the pioneers who lived there, and whose names were given to these isolated points of call. Northcote Henry Caesar was one of them, and an account of his experiences in the nineties is given in an article in the 1949 Okanagan Historical Society report, entitled "Early Days on Okanagan Lake."

It was October 1899 that he arrived in Vernon, fresh from the little Whitford town of Douglas, on the Avon River in the south of England. Work was not plentiful, but he picked up a job helping to build a house at 16 cents per hour, and later earned a bit more than his board at the Goldstream hotel shooting grouse for the hotel at 25 cents per bird.

SPLIT RAILS He split rails at the Goldstream Ranch, helped to plant 10,000 small trees in a nursery and aided Webster of Goldstream in building a house. In his spare time he constructed a boat with a sail, and on the Queen's birthday, May 24, 1901, he and Webster went to Okanagan Landing for a double boat-launching.

The CPR's new "Abertons" slid sideways into the lake, amid the usual fanfare, just two minutes after Caesar's home-made craft entered the Okanagan, sans ceremony.

They at once set out down the lake for a cruise. They spent the first night sleeping on the beach at Whiteman's Creek. Caesar was looking for a suitable location for a homestead, so they sailed on down the lake, calling first at Morden's (now Ewing's) Landing, met the Morden brothers and Jimmy Bruce.

They called at Short's Point, for sale at that time for $1,000 by Capt. Short. There were no buildings, the barn having burned down, so they camped this up. They called in at various bays and landings, Bear Creek, Tremblay, Lambly's place and Trout Creek. South of here all the land belonged to Tom Ellis they were told. They crossed the lake and spent the night at Horse Creek.

Next day the new little town of Kelowna was visited, but all suitable land, especially near the lake, was taken. Caesar had noted an attractive spot on the west side as they came down, so he returned there, scouted the hillside and found a good spring. The next day he went to the Government Agent at Vernon and recorded his claim. He moved down there, built a small shack and planted some potatoes. To make a living he joined with T. F. Valentine in a logging contract for S. C. Smith's mill in Vernon, to cut logs for 75 cents per thousand. They also cut cord wood for the S.S. Abertons at $1.65 a cord. The steamer soon after changed over to coal, and this revenue stopped.

A small wharf was built, which became known as "Caesar's Landing." The Abertons would call in with their mail. On Christmas Day they were invited aboard for dinner, and the Chinaman on the Abertons always obligingly did their laundry for them. The location is across from Okanagan Centre, and somewhat to the north.

Some time later they bought the old "S.S. City of Vernon" from Capt. Short. It was just a barge really, with the original engine of the "Mary Victoria Greenhow" in it. They nicknamed it the "Mudhen," for it was under water as much as it was on top. In stormy winter weather they had to bail hard, and chop ice off the boat, to keep it from sinking, so they decided to build a new boat.

They got a good fir log with a crook in it, took it to Lequime's mill where it was sawn into a keel and bow, free of charge, and Lequime also gave them the superstructure from the old "Ponchartraine," then beached at Kelowna.

FRUGAL LAUNCH When completed the boat was christened the "Wanderer", with due ceremony. The customary champagne bottle was broken over the prow as she slid into the water after the contents of the bottle had been ceremoniously consumed by the frugal launching party.

This 30-foot boat, with 8-foot beam and 5 h.p. engine, was used to haul logs to the Kelowna Sawmill, 100,000 feet to a raft, the trips being mostly at night when the lake was calm. The speed was usually about two miles an hour.

They also hauled dynamite to Penicton, the Abertons being prohibited from doing this, with passengers aboard. Later, the CPR put the Abertons on a special Sunday run to carry the dynamite, and they lost this job. They also hauled some from the Morning Glory mine across from Okanagan Landing, the snow carrying 30 tons, for which they received $25 for towing it.

Around the turn of the century they bought the Rainbow Ranch from the Barr brothers. In due course Caesar planted an orchard, built a house, and moved across to what was called "Rainbow Landing." In 1906 he married Miss Mabel Conyngham in Vernon, and they spent their honeymoon in England. About that time the Mackay brothers acquired the A. H. Knox upper ranch and other properties in the vicinity, and developed the Okanagan Centre, south of Caesar's property. Caesar spent the rest of his days at his tree-shaded, lakeshore home, living the life of many typical fruit ranchers of old country origin, playing cricket for the "Woodside" cricket club against Kelowna and other valley teams, and taking in the various regattas. A foot ailment from a birth prevented him from joining the navy in the First World War, to his great disappointment.

In 1937 he suffered a partial stroke that curtailed his activities, though he still kept occupied by making amazing hand tools, and taking in the various regattas. A foot ailment from a birth prevented him from joining the navy in the First World War, to his great disappointment.

He died on July 23, 1957 at the age of 83, and was buried in the little cemetery adjoining St. Margaret's Anglican Church, Winfield, just above the highway. The Okanagan correspondent, writing in the Courier, said: "All our memories are of a most kindly, courteous and helpful gentleman."

His widow still survives him, though not in good health. In the old home on the lakeshore a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bernau reside today.

Caesar's Landing? It still is shown on modern maps of Okanagan Lake. More fortunate than most, it still has a good wharf, thanks to Deighton's cannery, for whom a new wharf was built there some seven or eight years ago.

BIBLE BRIEF

"Then shall not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself: I am the Lord." —Leviticus 19:18.

Lack of love has been the undoing of humanity. The world could stand a lot of applied Christianity. The greatest of these is love.

PAID FOR JAIL TERM

LONDON (CP) — Patrick O'Connor has received $400 because a British soldier called Patrick O'Connor deserted. The two O'Connors had the same birthday and the same social security number as well. When military police caught the wrong one they kept him under guard for four days while they checked his story, and now have paid compensation.

The British garrison of Detroit, for three months by Indians, made a night attack on Pontiac's camp at Bloody Run 202 years ago today—in 1763—and was repulsed with heavy losses. Although the siege of Detroit floundered, the rising Pontiac organized was broadly a success, capturing eight of 12 British forts, and failed only when peace was made between France and England. Pontiac, assassinated in 1769, seems to have been one of the few Indians both to recognize the menace of colonization to his race, and able to organize the tribes in retaliation.

Annual International Picnic Enjoyed By W.I. And C.H.C.

The eleventh annual international picnic of the South Okanagan and Similkameen District of the B.C. Women's Institutes and the Okanagan County Homemakers' Club of Washington was held on July 20 at the research station, Summerland, B.C., and was attended by guests and visitors from India, California, Oregon, Illinois, as well as many members from other counties of Washington and many institutes of B.C.

In all there were 221 women gathered to exchange ideas and hear the highlights of other clubs and institutes over the past year, and although the weather did not co-operate too favourably everyone had a most interesting day.

Mrs. Gordon Shaw, president of the South Okanagan and Similkameen District Women's Institutes gave the address of welcome and paid tribute to the late Dr. R. C. Palmer who had been superintendent of the experimental farm for 21 years before it was renamed the research station. In his busy schedule Dr. Palmer always had time for the women's institutes, especially when the time came for judging the many garden competitions that members worked so hard at in the various districts. He gave his advice and helped many who were just starting out in the adventures of gardening, and was indeed a good friend of the institutes.

Mrs. Shaw then went on to say that his wife Mrs. R. C. Palmer who was present, was now the Provincial president of the British Columbia Women's Institutes and Mrs. Palmer was introduced.

Mrs. Carl Duchow of Tumbach, Washington responded to the address of welcome and said it was always a pleasure to come to the Okanagan Valley even if the weather was not so sunny best.

Mrs. Shaw then introduced the guests and officers: Mohan Deshpande of India; Mrs. E. D. McMillan, president of the Chelan County Homemakers; Mrs. H. C. Ford, director of the provincial board of the B.C. W.I.; Mrs. E. J. Roylance, peace garden chairman; Mrs. Carl Duchow, president of the Okanagan County Homemakers; Mrs. M. S. Rotwell, past president and Mrs. A. Calhoun, vice president of the South Okanagan and Similkameen district board.

Mrs. Palmer spoke briefly on the history of the research station before introducing the guest speaker Miss Dorothy Britton, home economist at the station. Miss Britton's address was on "Home Freezing". It was noted that it was too bad that there was not any soft fruit to try out some of her interesting ideas and hints, but notes were being taken and will be well used next season. Mrs. Montgomery then gave the highlights of the Homemakers' Club for the past year followed by Mrs. Palmer who gave the B.C. W.I. highlights.

Mrs. Roylance of Greenwood reported on the progress of finding a suitable site for the proposed "Peace Garden". At last year's picnic it was unanimously endorsed by all present that British Columbia and Washington State set aside sufficient land to be developed for a "Peace Garden". Mrs. Roylance said that land in that area was very hard to get as most of it was privately owned and very costly, but a motion was endorsed giving the committee in charge of this project authority to do what they could and report to their respective clubs and institutes.

Mohan Deshpande of India displayed a table of handicrafts made by the women of India who belong to a group much the same as our institutes. It was a very popular and interesting display. Mr. Deshpande is a representative of the International Farm Youth Exchange of India. The slogan for IFYE is "For Better World Understanding". It is a two-way exchange of the 4-H Clubs of the United States with rural young people of 67 other countries. IFYE is conducted by the national 4-H Club Foundation for the Co-operative Extension Service with co-operation from the ministry of food and agriculture of India, the U.S. department of state, and special sponsorship of International Mineral and Chemical Co-operation of Spokane, Illinois.

The Summerland W.I. with the help of the Kalamalka W.I. served a very welcome tea. An attractively decorated cake with the W.I. motto "For Home and Country" inscribed across the centre and flowers done in the institute colors was specially made for the occasion and was donated by the Kalamalka and Winfield institutes. The international picnic will be held in Molson, Washington, next year.

REHEARSING "ALL ABOUT EVE"

Kelowna Rotary Club Sponsors The Banff Festival Ballet

The Banff Festival Ballet will appear once again in Kelowna on August 16 at the Kelowna Community Theatre, sponsored by our Rotary Club. This event is always a treat that Kelownans look forward to, as many of our aspiring ballerinas study at the Banff School of Fine Arts during the summer and will appear with the company.

Miss Gwendolyn Lloyd and Mrs. Betty Farrally, who are well known throughout the Valley for their Canadian School of Fine Arts and "All About Eve" was written especially for her.

The corps de ballet this year includes many outstanding students from Canada and the United States, among them are Katherine Fevel, Robin Welch, and Diane Wallen from Spokane, Beverly Carter from Calgary, Laura Grey and Cathy Edwards from Kelowna; Elizabeth Sugden and Mary McRoberts of Vernon and Jo Ann Jackson of Okanagan Falls.

The Banff Festival Ballet will provide a delightful evening's entertainment. Tickets can be obtained from any member of the Kelowna Rotary Club, or at the Hamilton Galleries on Bernard Avenue.

Eva von Genzey of Montreal and Richard Jones of Ottawa are shown above rehearsing Brian Macdonald's new jazz ballet "All About Eve" one of the ballets we can look forward to seeing. Miss von Genzey has been a leading ballerina both with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet and Les Grands Ballets Canadiens. She is now a member of the staff of the Banff School of Fine Arts and "All About Eve" was written especially for her.

ANN LANDERS

Accept Your Marriage Partner's Weaknesses

Dear Ann Landers: Why is it that my wife will not believe it when the gas gauge in the car registers empty? She always has the idea there is enough gas left for one more trip.

This morning (for the third time since Christmas) I've been stuck without gas. Not only was I late for an important business meeting, I was arrested for obstructing traffic. (You can be sure the ticket is coming out of my wife's allowance.)

When two people use the same car don't you feel the tank should be kept at least half full for the convenience of the other person? You opinion (and support) will mean a lot.—FROTH-ING

Dear Frothing: Of course you're right but if it's happened three times since Christmas get smart already. The little woman isn't about to change, so you'd better do the changing, if you want to protect yourself against the physical damage that often results from seeing rages.

Whenever you get into the car, assume that the gas tank will be empty. Count on a stop at the filling station as your first order of business. Learning to accept the deficiencies of those we live with instead of trying to change them is the secret of many a good relationship.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for over nine years and you seem to have a great deal to say against mothers-in-law. I'll let anything yours is a pain in the neck.

My only son married a little nutcase. She is plain looking, has no style, no family background, no taste, can't cook, can't bake, her house is a mess and her children look as if someone should send them care packages.

Yesterday, I could stand it no longer, so I said, "Lucille, dear, is there a reason for leaving that filthy dishrag in the corner of the sink?" She replied calmly.

PEACHLAND COUNCIL IN BRIEF

Reeve To Attend Meeting On Industrial Proposals

PEACHLAND — Reeve C. O. Watson reported on the forthcoming meeting Tuesday in the new Art Centre in Penticton, on the new industrial development scheme concerning the area from Salmon Arm to the border. Council approved the reeve attending this meeting on their behalf.

The letter on membership in the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities is to receive further study.

Trepasier Domestic Water—It is planned to install a six-inch pipe across the old Trepasier road, newly named the Buchanan road, for the purpose of supplying domestic water to all lots between there and the lake. Due to the rock formation it will be taken across at a point approximately 200 feet south of Lang Ave. Necessary easements have been obtained.

Health Unit Accommodation—The grant for $666 has been approved by the provincial government and application has been submitted to the federal government for a like amount.

Councillor Frank Macdonald requested that the conflict with building bylaws and zoning bylaws be looked into. Kelowna has already done this and there for a copy of their building bylaws has been asked for.

Subdivision — Wesley Dunkin waited on council to ask reconsideration of his plan to subdivide part of lot 17 Plan B240 into four lots with two lots facing Vernon Ave. and two lots facing Budgee Ave. Mr. Dunkin also submitted plans to subdivide the top part of Plan B1465 district lot 223 into six lots all facing on Budgee Ave. with a road down the one side. Plans are to be submitted to the regional planner for consideration.

Garbage cans are to be ordered for the beach at the rate of one per table.

Tenants and resident voters are asked to see that their names are on the Voters' List between Aug. 1 and Sept. 30.

Chaplin's Daughter To Stay An American

MADRID (AP) — Geraldine Chaplin turned 21 today. She used the occasion to deny reports she planned to renounce her American citizenship. She is filming Dr. Zhivago here. Her father, Charlie Chaplin, remained a British subject during the 30 years he lived in the U.S.

LETTERS FROM LOUSY LOU, BOYS-A VERNON CAMP CALL

"Letters from Lousy Lou, Boys" which could be called the title to a tune the bugle used in the First World War when the mail arrived, was heard at Vernon Military Camp this week. The result was the above as a group of cadets converge on the post office to mail home and receive letters from mom and dad. Given a reprieve from writing their "dear mum" type of weekly message home while mail services were suspended, the more than 1800 Army cadets from the four Western provinces undergoing summer training at this Okanagan military camp, now feel home-bound to tell the folks back home what's been going on. The cadets, ranging from 14 to 18 years, are learning all about Army life during their six-week stay at Vernon. (National Defence photo)

Advance Planning Will Keep Children Happy On Car Trip

TORONTO (CP) — If you're seat and putting a crib or air mattress on top of it. Or you can plan a car trip with young children, it's a good idea to plan for two hours or less to drive a day. If you do that, an extra set of longer legs can make the platform double as a portable picnic table.

MAKE MYSTERY BOX
Have two kinds of games—travel games and standard ones. The local library may be of help with games such as licence plate crisscross or cow-counting. You can also buy commercial games with magnetic boards and counters or slots to keep to stop and count, and dangle. You probably should leave adult preferences for the evening.

Miss Lane says a little advance planning will help keep children happy while in the car, and reduce the wear and tear on adult nerves.

You can turn the back seat into a play and nap area by age of candy. If you're on a stacking luggage level with thinking trip, mark different days of the week on each gift and give the children one selection a day.

Games and grooming equipment can be kept handy by hanging a compartmented shoe bag over the back of the front seat. Toys can be stored in some compartments, a camp and brush in another, a damp towel and soap in a plastic bag in another.

A plastic-lined tote bag makes a good holder for trash bags and will double as a carrier for bathing suits and other equipment when you leave the car.

DRESS FOR COMFORT
Dress the children casually—jerseys and shorts in summer. They'll be comfortable and you can easily carry a few changes and stop at a coin laundromat to wash.

If they must be dressed up when you arrive at your destination, Miss Lane suggests you can carry good clothes in a plastic bag in the trunk.

If they want to take their shoes off, let them. It's easier on the car and they're less likely to hurt each other if they kick.

Both adults and children should eat lightly during the day on a car trip, Miss Lane says. You're less likely to get groggy, and a child is less likely to be car sick.

If you think he might be sick, ask a doctor to recommend a motion-sickness preparation. And when in the car you can bring the child up to the front seat—a good idea occasionally anyway—and give him a chance to look out the window. The car is less likely to be car sick.

It's also a good idea to have a container ready in case of car sickness, along with a change of clothes, a damp cloth for the child's face and some chewing gum or hard candy for consolation.

BUILD EXPO THEATRE

The $350,000 pavilion to be built by the Telephone Association of Canada at Expo 67 will include a circular theatre holding 1,500 people.

SOUTH VIET NAM LURES TOURISTS

SAIGON (AP) — South Viet Nam's nationalist tourist office makes this sales pitch:

"With its sophisticated, temperate climate resorts in the highland country, its white beaches, its ancient imperial city, its vast hunting reserves and its numerous other attractions, Viet Nam is rapidly becoming a must-see for thousands of foreign tourists."

The brochure makes no mention of the war and some even contain the line that Viet Nam is a hunter's paradise. There is plenty of game.

Indeed South Viet Nam's scenic beauty and historic richness would make it a tourist's paradise were it not for the fact that hundreds of persons are being killed or wounded every week.

New York Designers Expect Resistance To Collections

NEW YORK (AP)—Although shoulder straps are missing and hemlines are high on costumes in the new fall collections, the designers expect and are prepared to meet resistance.

"We plan to ship these dresses with extra shoulder straps, just in case," Karen Stark, designer for the Harvey Berin fashion house, told fashion writers Tuesday. The writers are here for the New York Couture Group's semi-annual press previews.

As she spoke, several pretty maidens appeared in black or white figure-revealing, crepe, duster gowns that clung to one shoulder strap, presumably for security. Actually, gowns today upholster the bosom snugly enough so that not even one strap is needed to hold them safely in place—and certainly not old-fashioned, flesh-jabbing stays. There were plenty of interesting and beautiful cases in point, among them shoulderless velvet and satin gowns, the bodices of which were tightly drawn bands of glittering crystals, or wispy ostrich plumes.

"The short skirt length is right," said Vincent Monte-Sano, referring to the inch-above-the-knee hems in the coat-and-suit line created for his fashion house by designer Jacques Tiffreau. "The focus changes as the real fashion interest moves into the jacket itself, particularly the neckline."

Yet Monte-Sano as well as Rudi Gernreich, Ann Fogarty and others who figure prominently in the short, short skirt story, will lower hems if buyers insist, or make them deep enough to allow women to let them out themselves.

Pleats, A-line cuts or a little gathering at the waist on most of the short skirts in the collection, provided plenty of stride room. A few suits with skirts as skinny as they were brief after the wearer an interesting challenge in sitting down with grace and modesty.

If a little or a lot of leg shows, nobody is supposed to be looking, according to the Monte-Sano theory. All eyes should be on exaggerated turtle-necks graphically called "chim-chim," or the foot-high "throat cuffs" which double as mufflers or detachable fringed scarves which wrap across the face purdah-fashion.

The fashion house did its bit to keep women warm from above the knees to the nose with coats lined in moleskins dyed in exotic colors.

Johnson Given Much Support But Some Oppose Buildup Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has won rousing support for his Viet Nam policy from the state governors but still faces the misgivings of Oregon's Mark O. Hatfield, a Republican who favors a vigorous peace move.

Johnson and his senior advisers headed 48 governors for more than two hours Thursday night and Hatfield, sometimes mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1968, was the only one to emerge as something of a loner.

There were these other Washington developments in the many-sided Viet Nam situation.

The defense department will create a "super ready reserve," it was learned, by bringing selected national guard and reserve units to peak readiness in training and equipment during the next few months.

Another review by Johnson of the Vietnam war in two or three months and possibly a decision again to increase troop strength in Viet Nam, was expected. Informal speculation was that the U.S. forces just ordered increased to 125,000 might go to 300,000 by the end of this year.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (Dem., Ga.), chairman of the Senate armed services committee, said "300,000 appears to be the limit for Viet Nam from what I've heard." Russell said he assumes the armed forces as a whole will be built up to 300,000 from the present 2,000,000.

UN Secretary-General U Thant told Johnson he is determined to use "all the means at my disposal" to bring about negotiations on Viet Nam.

The principals in a six-week-old maritime strike promised they would continue to make available all the merchant ships necessary to carry supplies and men to Viet Nam. The assurance was given Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz by representatives of the AFL-CIO Beneficial Association and the National Marine Engineers American Merchant Marine Institute.

No Soviet Entry In B.C. Air Show

OTTAWA (CP) — An official at the Russian Embassy denied today that the Soviet Union has promised to send two aircraft to the air show Aug. 14-15 in Abbotsford, B.C.

"There has been no commitment whatsoever," the official said in an interview. "We merely have asked for more details as to the terms of participation and the nature of the show itself."

Pat Murphy, a member of the local organizing committee, said in Abbotsford Thursday that the Soviet Embassy here had sent the committee a telegram saying Russia would send a turbo jet and a helicopter to the show.

An embassy official confirmed that an invitation to participate has been received from Abbotsford and that the Soviet government is "interested in it to the extent that we have asked for more details."

"But no decision has been made on our participation."

DEBUNK NEW LIGHTS
LONDON (CP) — Antique dealers in Camden Passage in the north London district of Islington are up in arms about the electric street lights installed in place of the old gas lamps. The street's 20 shopkeepers say they destroy the character—the old lamps gave the narrow road.

MARK HATFIELD
... voice in wilderness

—The White House said Johnson has received a flood of telegrams applauding his decision to increase U.S. troop commitment in Viet Nam. The president said he has been sustained during recent months by the pride and patriotism expressed in letters from the wives and mothers of men serving in Viet Nam.

All those at the 57th annual governors conference in Minneapolis flew here to meet with Johnson. The only governor missing was John N. Dempsey of Connecticut who is visiting Ireland.

Before leaving the conference, all except Hatfield and Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney voted for a resolution "endorsing the principles of the position of this country as enunciated by the president."

Premiers To Meet on Own Over Education Pension

WINNIPEG (CP) — Eight of Canada's 10 premiers, fresh from a bout of co-operative federalism at the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa, will turn to co-operative provincialism here Monday at their own round-table discussions.

Prime topics at the sixth annual premiers conference likely will be education and pensions. Discussions at the premiers conferences are informal and private and are aimed at better inter-provincial co-operation in areas in which the provinces make the laws.

The discussions on education are expected to follow the lines of last year's conference at Jasper, Alta. The hope is that standards and curricula can be co-ordinated so students moving from one province to another can make smooth transitions.

In the pension field, discussions are expected to focus on pension plans which are distinct from the federal pension plan. They likely will centre on portability—making it possible for employees of industry and government to move to new jobs and other provinces without losing benefits.

SITS AS OBSERVER
Federal-provincial conferences are meetings of the federal government and the provinces on subjects of mutual interest, but the premiers conferences are confined to the provinces, with the federal government sitting in only as an observer, if at all.

All provinces but Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island will be represented at this year's premiers meeting. Premiers Joey Smallwood of Newfoundland and Walter Shaw of Prince Edward Island said they doubted there would be anything of specific interest to them at the meeting. Mr. Smallwood was the only premier absent from last year's conference.

Premier Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick planned to bring the largest out-of-town delegation, including two cabinet ministers and three advisers.

Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba is chairman for the conference and Premier John Ro-

Medical Insurance, Offshore Rights Sure To Be Up High On Agenda

Medical insurance and offshore mineral rights are expected to come up for discussion at the conference and the Prairie premiers plan to discuss specific proposals for a Prairie economic council between conference sessions.

Manitoba, Quebec and Ontario are to discuss a brief they plan to submit to the federal government asking that their boundaries be extended into James and Hudson Bays. The extensions would give the provinces control over offshore minerals.

Discussion is expected on

Postal Strike Gives New Boost To Collective Bargaining Move

OTTAWA (CP) — The postal strike gave new impetus to efforts aimed at collective bargaining for the civil service and seems to have improved the chances of legislation being approved when Parliament next meets.

The federal government has been studying a report of a special committee headed by Arnold Heene which made concrete suggestions about the form of collective bargaining.

Meanwhile, the official Opposition appears to have been doing some thinking along similar lines. Progressive Conservative Leader Diefenbaker came out with his own bargaining proposals.

The two proposals are not radically different and, if the government is preparing legislation based on the Heene report, it seems likely many of its points will get Conservative approval.

Other topics likely will include problems involved in collecting sales taxes from persons making purchases outside their home provinces. Ontario and Quebec have worked out an arrangement under which they may license businesses in one another's territories to collect sales taxes. Thus an Ontario resident making a purchase in Quebec would pay the Ontario sales tax on the purchase.

GROWTH THROUGH FELLOWSHIP

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Benschke
Scripture—Romans 14:1-15

Realizing the bonds of fellowship among the Roman Christians are weakening, Paul exhorts them to tolerance and charity, and increased consideration of the strong for the weak—Romans 14:1-15

Christians should not criticize other Christians for things they consider religiously necessary for a man's life, his conscience in these matters and it should be respected and defended—Romans 14:2-15

Christians must be conscious of their actions, aware that what they do affects others about them. Regulating our lives with other disregard for our fellowmen destroys the work of God—Romans 14:15-23

Called into fellowship with Christ—and through Him with the Father and Holy Spirit—Christians are stimulated in their spiritual growth—1 John 1

General Anglican Synod Plans Vancouver Meeting

VANCOUVER (CP) — The 22nd general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada will convene Aug. 25 with a festival of hope, peace and ecumenical fellowship.

The synod's main significance will be in an expected approval in principle of union with the United Church.

It will be the first time the task and the day has officially been recorded in the synod's history.

A document outlining principles of union was made public June 1.

St. Rev. Geoffrey P. Gower, Bishop of New Westminster Diocese, head to the synod, had a press conference Tuesday.

"There will be many a thing done here," he said, "which will bring the world back to its own areas."

"We approach this synod with a great feeling of hope — a hope that it will go down in church history as the most significant meeting ever."

Bishop Gower said he expects 150 lay delegates to take a significant part in the debate. There will also be 150 clergies of the province.

He said he expects prolonged debate on proposals for revision of the ecclesiastical canon on marriage and divorce. Present church law forbids a divorced person from remarrying within the church if the former spouse is still living.

"The church will never depart from the idea of one man for one woman — for life," he said.

That is absolutely basic. But there is a feeling within some segments of the church which feels we cannot fulfill our religious function if we abstain from those who have made mistakes.

"It should bring on a very different discussion."

Debate on union with the United Church will be an examination of the church's theological expression, based on a report to the synod's 25-member committee on theological education.

MESSAGE MIXED

Canon W. E. Hobbie, director of the Anglican department of information and stewardship, will report on the church's concern with mass communication.

Canon Hobbie said the church's attempts at communication have often been impaired by excessive reliance on the spoken word and the inability to see God at work carried on in the

Grey Sisters Back On Job

OTTAWA (CP) — Four local members of the Grey Sisters of the Immaculate Conception headed back for the embattled Dominican Republic Wednesday to resume teaching roles.

It will mark the 10th consecutive year in the republic for Sister Ann of the Cross and the first for young Sister St. Pius. Along with Sister Mary Louise they'll administer two public schools while Sister Joan of Arc will direct one of the country's few high schools.

A Canadian priest serving the same mission as the sisters was shot to death recently but the sisters expressed no fear of returning to the strife-torn island country.

"Our business is teaching and we intend to go on doing it," Sister Ann said in an interview.

Mission schools are government supported—but by which government?

"That's what we'd like to know," said one of the nuns.

Their schools are in the country 20 to 30 miles from Santo Domingo. They don't expect the revolution—or the "trouble" as they refer to it—to interfere with their teaching.

The sisters have just finished a month's holiday here. They are among 10 sisters of their order serving in the republic.

We spend our summers by the Inlet. Eddie and I love to walk the beach, watching with fascination the wild churning of the water where the ocean waves meet the strong river current.

"That's my name," he said, when I told him the churning water was called an "eddy."

It's more than his name. It's a picture of his life — and every child's.

Growing up is a succession of crosscurrents. The influences of the home meet those of the school — the playmates — the community — the times. Strange, new experiences must be fitted into the child's ever-widening world.

Religious training is the surest stabilizing force in this turbulent period of growth. Strengthened by parental faith and example, a child discovers in his church that there are values greater than whim or adventure. He realizes that his own and his family's standards are rooted in the truths of God. And he learns with the firm rudder of faith to steer a bold course — out of the Inlet's swirling eddies — across the sea of life.

New Deal Set For Moscow Jews

MOSCOW (Reuters) — A "new deal" for Moscow's Jews will allow them to bake as much unleavened bread as they like, whenever they like, it was learned today.

The city's chief rabbi, Yehuda Lay Levin, said other new moves aimed at satisfying the community's needs were the printing of 10,000 prayer books and the easing of restrictions on training young rabbis.

Answering a reporter's questions he said he learned of the new concessions when he was called to the council for the affairs of religious cults Friday.

SPACE SENSE

This three bedroom split-level house, designed by architects Dennis and Freda O'Connor of Edmonton, achieves a sense of space and privacy. The master bedroom, sewing-washing alcove, living room and dining room with an open kitchen are oriented around a central patio area. At the rear under the back-room wing there is provision for a study, which could be used as a fourth bedroom, a bathroom and space for a recreation room. The front door of this house should face east or south. The floor area is 1,367 square feet which excludes the attached garage. The exterior dimensions are 39 feet, ten inches by 45 feet. Working drawings for this house, shown as Design 766, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Home Wallpapering Simple If You Follow Simple Rules

Easy on, easy off—that's the story of today's newest wall-papers. By that we mean that they are infinitely easier to hang and many papers do not have to be steamed or scraped to come off the walls for redecorating. More and more time and labor saving features have been introduced by leading manufacturers of popular priced wall-papers. Almost everyone today should be aware of the term "peeled." It means that the rolls of paper are factory-pasted with dry adhesive before packaging. When it is purchased, the paper comes with a "water" box. This is a long, thin box designed to hold a strip of paper. When the redecorating begins, cut and match the paper, working on several strips of enough for one whole wall. Number the strips in the order they are used. Incidentally, don't forget to leave a few inches at the top and bottom to allow for matching. To apply the paper to the wall, place the first strip in the box or tray. Pour in water so that the tray is about half full. Then when paper is completely wet, pull up strip, holding the top edge and place against wall at the ceiling line. Follow this method with each strip, matching and smoothing. All that's needed in the way of extra equipment is a terry cloth towel to catch any drip under the water box, or take care of any spillage as it is moved along as each strip is hung. And, of course, there is the sponge for smoothing out wrinkles. An ordinary single-edge razor blade and yardstick will be handy for trimming, or, if you have a good eye, a pair of scissors should suffice. Most of these papers are also factory trimmed to ease application. Women have told me that they can paper an ordinary-sized room in a few hours. Nothing like having a new room decorated in less than a day. If you don't want to try wallpapering yourself, tell your teenager about it and watch results. Now for some really big news about removing wallpaper. Several companies have recently introduced new lines of papers that can actually be peeled off the wall. One we have seen is a fabric-backed vinyl that is completely stain-proof, making it ideal for areas that receive much wear and tear. The paper is stronger than its adhesive, so that after several years of service, it can be literally peeled off the wall. Another paper of this type is factory-pasted vinyl wall covering with a paper back. It combines the dirt-resistance of plastic and the easy-to-work-with quality of paper. As this is stripped from the wall, it delaminates, leaving a paper lining on the wall, which, if necessary, can also be removed. There is a wide choice of patterns—textures, floral, stripes, thematic, and geometrics in peelable papers. However, if you do find a pattern in any kind of paper that is neither factory-pasted nor able to be stripped off the wall, there is another new idea. You can buy a lining that is treated so that any paper can be pulled from it in one strip. It is referred to as a release coating. All of which means that you can easily redecorate as often as fancy strikes you or you can even take your wallpaper with you if you move.

Two Methods Of Painting Required For New House

There are two methods of painting required in a new house. The exterior and the interior. Here are a few tips that should be helpful for exterior painting. First, wood must be thoroughly seasoned before painting. Also, painting should be postponed after a rain or if the air is too damp. Even though it feels dry to the touch, wood can still contain too much moisture for painting and the surest way of testing it is to use a moisture meter. This is why it is important to engage the services of an experienced painter. He should know something about the various characteristics of wood, especially how well they hold paint.

Wood siding should be primed or given the first coat as soon as possible after being nailed. Nail holes must be filled with putty and joints around windows and doors must be caulked with a suitable caulking compound. Mild weather is best suited for painting. If a freshly painted surface is exposed too long to the direct rays of the midsummer sun, the paint may be damaged. On the other hand, painting should stop when the temperature drops close to the freezing point.

GOOD RULE
A good rule is to "paint with the sun." By the time one side of the house is painted the sun will have moved over to the next side. Outside painting should be delayed when rain threatens or if there is a danger of dust or sand blowing against the freshly painted surface. How many coats of paint should be applied? In most cases, two coats of paint on top of a priming coat are sufficient. But if it has a low pigment content, additional coats may be required.

INTERIOR PAINTING
Interior painting is seldom carried out as a single operation. Usually there are two or three separate steps; walls and ceilings, then doors and trim, and finally the floors. Painting plaster surfaces presents special problems because plaster contains lime which can destroy the color in certain types of paint.

A skilled painter knows how to deal with this situation. If a homeowner wants the painting done before he moves in, he should make sure that newly plastered surfaces are thoroughly dry and that they are treated with a neutralizer to counteract the lime. What about floor finishes? Before being varnished or waxed, floors must be sanded down with a special rotary sanding machine. The final appearance of the floors will depend to a great extent on the skill of the person who does the sanding. A sealer is essential if the grain of the wood is porous or open. A word of caution though:

some of the chemicals in sealer compounds give off poisonous fumes and prolonged exposure to the fumes may be harmful. This is a safety measure worth knowing. There has always been some disagreement among both builders and homeowners as to whether varnish or wax produces the better finish. It depends largely on personal taste, the amount of use the floor will get, and the time that can be spared to maintain the floor.

New Shingles On Top Of Old Have Definite Advantages

QUESTION: In the spring a new roof is to be put on our house. At present we have cedar shingles which have been on about 25 years. Should the new composition shingles be put on over the present cedar shingles? Or should the cedar be removed first?—Buffalo, N.Y.

ANSWER: There are definite advantages in placing a new roof on top of the old. Stiffness and heat resistance of the roof will be increased. Dirt inside and outside the house will be avoided. There will be a considerable saving in labor. In preparing the old roof, replace any missing shingles, split and curled shingles to flatten them and nail down any loose shingles.

SALT IN CEMENT PAINT
QUESTION: I would like to paint the sides of concrete steps with cement and water. Was told to use salt in the water. Does that help? What proportion of salt is used? What is the purpose of the salt? What to mix with cement to give it a white color?—Buffalo.

ANSWER: Yes, but calcium chloride is better. Added to Portland cement paint, it accelerates hardening of the paint and aids in proper curing. It is used in the proportion of four per cent by weight of total ingredients in paint mix. For a white paint, use a white Portland cement, or marble dust, available from your dealer. For detailed instructions, I suggest sending card to Portland Cement Association, 33 W. Grand Ave., Chicago 10, Ill., for copy of leaflet, "Painting Concrete."

HOME TIPS

WATER BUGS
QUESTION: We are being troubled by water bugs in the house we moved into several months ago. How can we get rid of them?—Norfolk, Va.

ANSWER: Wherever the insects are found, scatter sodium fluoride powder (poison) about. Or spray the areas with an insecticide containing two per cent chlordane. A less toxic insecticide, containing combinations of pyrethrum, synergists or rotenone, requires more frequent applications than chlordane sprays. With children or pets in the house, use the less toxic, naturally! If you feel it's risky better to put up with the bugs and take no chances.

Rich Man Lives In Council House And Neighbors Send In Complaints

LONDON (AP) — A British businessman with a yacht and two cars today defended his right to live in a government-subsidized house that costs him only $7 a week.

"Of course I could afford to buy a big house with a swimming pool and a dock and garage," said Dan Tobin, 44, "but I'd feel uncomfortable in such a place."

Tobin, a former bus driver started in business with a capital of $2.65. He now owns a string of bingo parlors.

Tobin and his widowed mother, 79, live on a housing estate in which the rents are subsidized by the Port Talbot County Council. The house is in his mother's name.

Complaints about a "rich man" living on the housing estate began when Tobin was granted permission to build a garage beside the house for his two cars.

Helpful Hints on Using RED-E-MIX CONCRETE

For strength and durability concrete must be cured properly. Protect it for at least 5 days to prevent loss of moisture during the early stages of hardening. Sprinkling and ponding, watertight paper or membrane curing compounds may be used. Surfaces should be prevented from drying out too fast and must be protected from the sun or drying winds.

Put in a new patio • steps • sidewalk • swimming pool • garage or retaining wall

Opening lead—jack of spades. The declarer should make it a practice to formulate a plan of play before he even follows from dummy to the opening lead. He cannot really expect to get good results with an ad hoc degree of regularity if he plays a hand on a hunch. He must rather than on a basis which recognizes the play of the hand as a whole.

Some hands virtually play themselves if declarer plans his play properly. Take this hand, for example, where West leads a spade against four hearts. Declarer sees that the only possible losers are a trump and three clubs. The trump loser can easily be saved whenever East has three low trumps, or whenever East has the singleton or doubleton queen. The trump loser can also be saved when East has two low trumps of three to the queen but in both these cases South must guess whether or not to finesse if he is to avoid a trump loser. A club loser can be saved whenever East has the ace of clubs, since the king would become a trick in each such case. Declarer can protect himself against practically every case possible if he wins the spade lead with the ace, cashes the ace of hearts, plays a spade to the king, and then leads a trump and finesesses the ten.

This finesse secures the contract whether it wins or loses. Note that in the actual case the finesse succeeds and South makes 11 tricks.

But let's assume that West had the ace originally, in which case the finesse would lose. Even so, South is certain of the contract regardless of where the ace of clubs is located.

West, having scored the queen of trumps, cannot do better than return a diamond, thus permitting South to discard a club loser on dummy's fourth diamond.

If declarer fails to take the trump finesse, he jeopardizes the contract, and, in the actual case, goes down one.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Some planetary restrictions, where personal relationships are concerned, will prevail in the A.M. Advised, therefore, is tact in those early hours. Late day influences are exceedingly generous, favor practically any interest or activity which you choose to pursue.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you should make excellent headway in job matters during the coming year; also good monetary gains—especially during the first two weeks in August, between mid-September and mid-November, the last six weeks in 1965, next February, April and June. Valuable social contacts and opportunities to travel are promised between August 15 and September 15. Best periods for romance: the weeks between mid-August and mid-September, between November 15 and January 1, May and June.

You may have to guard against emotional stress for brief periods in mid-December and mid-April, but this you can do if you will relax, and resolve to look upon possible irritations and obstacles in your path merely as challenges to be met—and compared. Look for good business opportunities in late September and early December, and, if you are engaged in creative work, put forth your best efforts in September, December, January and next June. They should pay off handsomely.

A child born on this day will be markedly inventive and practical, but may be a little too domineering with associates.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW

Lunar influences on Monday suggest that you curb emotionalism and avoid extremes. Benefits: Inspiration and stimulation of original ideas in those creatively or intellectually engaged.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If Monday is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you can make this year in your life an outstanding one if you push forward with confidence and foresight as of the immediate present. Coordinate all your efforts since the results which you achieve—and they should be substantial—will have a fine effect on future progress. Look for especially good opportunities for romance: Between September 15 and November 15, in December, January, February and June.

Personal relationships will also be governed by good aspects and, except for brief periods of stress in mid-December and mid-April, which you can avoid through alertness, domestic and social interests should prosper. Best periods for romance: Between August 15 and September 15, the last six weeks of 1965, May and June.

A child born on this day will be endowed with the qualities of leadership and would make an excellent executive; in the professional world, could succeed as a dramatist or musician.

Bombers Crush Esks In Opener

EDMONTON (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, cellar dwellers in the Western Football Conference last year, made good their 1965 start Friday night with a 21-14 win over Edmonton Eskimos.

Veteran halfback Leo Lewis scored two Winnipeg touchdowns after the Bombers started the game with rookie half Dave Ramsey scoring a major on a 145-yard gallop from the opening kickoff.

For Eskimos, halfback Jim Thomas and rookie import end John Greiner scored touchdowns on pass plays. Centre Jim Mitchell converted one and added a single on a field goal attempt.

Gilchrist Sets Swim Mark

RED DEER (CP) — If there was any doubt that Sandy Gilchrist would be included on the Canadian swimming team going to Europe next month, the doubt was erased Friday.

The Ocean Falls, B.C. native set a Canadian men's 200-metre record and scored the Ocean Falls club to victory in the 400-metre relay with a closing freestyle lap.

Gilchrist's contribution boosted to four the number of Canadian open records erased during the next-to-last day of the 1965 national championships.

Marion Lay and Barbara Housh, two members of the 1964 Canadian Olympic team who live at Victoria, Calif., also set records Friday. Miss Lay erased the Canadian women's open 100-metre freestyle mark and Miss Housh wiped out the Canadian women's 200-metre individual medley standard.

Bill Kennedy of London, Ont., set a record in the 100-metre backstroke competition for boys 11 and 12. Rob Kesting of Lethbridge matched the national age-class record for the 100-metre backstroke distance for boys 13 and 14.

Bombers gain more. Edmonton's first major victory in the Western Football Conference was a 21-14 win over the Eskimos in the season opener.

Babe Ruth Tournament Enters Final Phase Today

North Vancouver and New Westminster advanced to this month's Babe Ruth tournament. Both New Westminster and North Vancouver have one shot of Friday night victories in the B.C. Babe Ruth tournament.

In the 13.30 contest, North Vancouver edged Trail 6-5 in the top eight innings and in the ninth inning but Trail cap, New Westminster captain, downed Vancouver later in the night. The winner of today's 7 p.m. tilt meets undefeated Nanaimo in the 8 p.m. final tonight. If the second and fourth but five games were played, another game is scheduled for Sunday at 1 p.m. in three remaining games.

"Wet Or Dry" Giants Thrive On Braves' Pitching Output

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Hatcher, talking 777 going into the game, drove in four runs with a home run, double and ground out for the Giants who were leading 4-0 in the fifth.

The umpires didn't catch him. Milwaukee Braves' pitchers, who were throwing superbly Friday night, but the way San Francisco Giants were hitting them, the umpires weren't getting too close to a book.

Bragan claimed he ordered his pitchers to use the illegal pitch "to prove the umpires won't stop anyone from throwing the spitball."

After the Giants worked over five Milwaukee pitchers for a 13 hits and 9-2 victory, San Francisco manager Herman Hankins wasn't about to complain about whatever Bragan's staff was throwing.

JOCKEY LEFT WAITING AT POST

LONDON (AP) — Jockey Stan Smith has come up with an alibi for not winning a race that may well go down as the annals of the turf.

They lost his horse. Stan was looking to ride Lord Rosedale's Tumbler in the £20,000 stakes over a mile and a quarter at Goodwood Friday.

A quarter hour before post time there were 16 horses and riders in the parade ring, plus one horseless rider—Smith.

"I've got no horse to ride," said Smith. "They've mislaid the bloody thing." he gasped.

Three-year-old Tumbler was doing in a stall. Nearby was his former stable attendant, Gill Collins, 21, fast asleep.

By this time the stewards ordered Tumbler scratched.

Spokane Shatters PCL Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Pacific Coast League record that stood for 12 years fell Friday night when Spokane got five successive doubles in the first inning for an 8-5 baseball victory over Vancouver.

The two-baggers by Derrell Griffith, John Werhas, Mel Corbo, Al Ferrara and Jim Barbieri erased a mark of four set by the Hollywood Stars against Seattle June 3, 1953.

In other games—it was at win-on-the-home-field night throughout the league—Seattle beat Indianapolis 3-1, Salt Lake City bested Oklahoma City 2-1, San Diego downed Arkansas 3-0, Tacoma blanked Portland 4-0 and Hawaii defeated Denver 3-1.

Spokane's string of doubles produced the three runs which turned out to be the margin of victory. Spokane's hurler, Bill Singer, who pitched the entire game, gave up two home runs to Ray Webster.

Spokane occupies the cellar in the Western Division standings.

WELSH WINS OUT B.L.A. ENA U FESTINIOG, Wales (CP)—A ban on speaking Welsh during working hours, imposed by the English owners of an engineering firm in this Merionethshire town, has been lifted because of public protest. The managers believed that bilingualism would lead to confusion, but at least two workers left when the ban was imposed.

District Athletes Cop Honors At B.C. Junior Track, Field Meet

VANCOUVER (CP) — Paul Gladhill of New Westminster set a meet record Friday in the 100-metre sprint at the B.C. Junior Track and Field Championships.

Paul romped home in 4.32, holding off a game Ricky Ritchie of Vancouver, whose final time was 4.56.4. In third place was Mike McInlay of Langley in 4.61.

The meet mile was the highlight of Friday's events at the meet, in which 1,203 junior athletes from many parts of the province are entered.
